

4B Regan Review

Be a listener....Be safe...Be kind...Be the best learner you can be!

I want to take this time to thank each family in our 4B class for your sincere support in making this year one of my best! This class of students have really come together as a class. They are eager to encouraging and help each other. Their attitude and work ethics is a reflection of their parents. Thank you so very much for your support of learning, participation with volunteering, or school and classroom functions....The Banana Split party was never run so smoothly!

Reading Rigby Center highlights:

Read books about summer! One in particular was How Glooskap found Summer. Each reading groups read this same book found at three different reading levels. It was interesting to hear how the text changed from book to book. The book had a great cause and effect comprehension strategy. To support the understanding of this strategy, I first read If You Take a Mouse to School by Laura Numeroff. Then, the students read several Rigby books I chose where the students had to decide if there was a cause and effect in the story and state what it was!

Writer's Workshop Students wrote their own diamantes then wrote a personal narrative.

Word Study Review of several word strategies. End of the year Spelling test and Sight Word assessments.

Unit:

Discussions on how the land and weather in an environment affects their surroundings and lifestyles.

picking up your student.*****

Math highlights:

First grade:

Students began completed their study of fractions. A review of regrouping two digit numbers.

Second grade:

Completed their topic on Division as well as the topic on fractions.

Banana Splits Party was a wonderful way to celebrate their accomplishments in Math!

Homework: Please read to your student this summer. I'm also sending math books home for the summer to support learning!
